Hondkone, July 3rd, 1 85. THE appeal made to the residents of Hongkong on behalf of the sufferers by the floods the neighbouring province is one thus far received. As the Tung Wa Com- owners. The cargo which was seized in the mittee remark in their letter to the forthickly populated with poor but happy peamants was the country bordering the North and West Rivers, dwelling in villages and communes. These are now for the most - part submerged, in many cases leaving an the Upper Barman Government to introduce trace of their former existence, but all are inundated and surrounded by, perhaps, miles of deep water. The loss of life has been dreadful. The poor despairing and suffering | Germany, will shortly send a representative to servivors have become the care of their charitable fellow-creatures." The matter has Petersburg. Thoebaw would seem to consider heen taken up not only by the Tung Wa Hospital Committee, but also by the Rev. "J. B. Ost, of sthe Church Missionary Society, who has organised a "Kwangtung Inundation Fund," the application of which be, with other missionaries, will personally supervise in the distressed districts. The water, according to the latest advices, had to a great extent subsided, and the washed out population were beginning to return to their former homes, only to find them utterly desolate, the crops de-'s stroyed, and relatives and friends drowned or missing. The prospect before the sufferers is dreary indeed, and cannot fail to excite general commission and sympathy. It is one of those cases, also where promptness in giving is of even great or importance than the extent of the don ition The rivers of China are her glory, but they too often prove also her sorrow. The Yellow River is known by the name of "China's Sorrow," and although none of the other streams bring the same misery and distress to the country as that great waterway, floods are frequent occurrences throughout the Empire. But the disaster which has now fallen on the district between Canton and Sam-shui is of more than ordinary magnitude. Nothing like it has been known in stating that the house was a wealthy one, the Kwangtung since 1833, when the river burst its banks at the same place, namely, Shek-kok, near Sun-shui. Archletean . Gray mentions it in his book on China, in the passage referring to canals, givers, and embeckments, in which he says -"The rivers and canals are guarded, many points, by high banks with the view of preventing inundations. These embands ments, some of which are constructed of earth, others of stone, are standing moonments of the energy and enterprise of the Chinese of past ages. The country they travelled through was very difficult and almost wholly uninhabited the two Singpho villages mentioned above being separated by an absolutely tennutless tract of 65 miles. The difficulty of the country compalled Colonel Woodthorps to reduce his party, and he went down among the Hor Kharaptis of the Northern Irrawaddy with a very small escort indeed. The token half-sovereign which Mr. Childers proposed to substitute for the present coin finds an advocate in the Deputy Master of the Mint. Most of the objections raised against the plan when it first appeared rested on the assumption that the existing coin was a full valued coin. whereas it is, on the whole, a sham. Coming out of the Mint literally worth its whight in gold. it is so thin, and therefore presents so much surface, that it soon loses weight and value by wear. On the last holders an unjust fine is inflicted when the half-sovereigns are returned to the Bank of England. What was proposed was to recognize the necessary loss, and to give the States seignorage on the issue of half-sovereigns which would pay for their renewal without special injustice. The uncertainties attending ocean passages are notably shown in comparing the passages of the rival New Zealand liners Ruspehu and Tainni, the former belonging to the New Zealand Shipping Company, and the latter to Shaw. Savill, and Albion Company. The Ruspehu. per share.

One sight, apparently with the knowledge of the young women, he again went to the farmhouse The defendant sprang out upon him and struck him on the mouth with a stick or switch, foreibly took him to a hen-house, put his arms around : beam about five feet from the ground, and handcuffed him, tied his legs together with a rope threw a pailful of dirty water in his face, and left him in the position described for eight hours. Purvis had taken off his boots in the house, and the floor was of earth and the night wet. The Sheriff said many a man would he a succumbed to such treatment. The acqueed vas evidently a person in a very respectable post ion in society, but the court could not pass a less sentence than imprisonment for 21 days with

A singular charge of assault has been tried

Some prison statistics concerning the state of New York have been collected, from which it appears that our English experiences are any. thing but reflected in that community. While our-prison inhabitants, despite over-population, hard times; glut of labour, and all the natural causes of crime steadily diminishes in proportion to the increase of the population, in the State of New York it is all the other way. A landy growth of 20 per cent. in the population dur Hanghat..... ing 15 years has been accompanied by an in- water crease of 32 per cent, in the number of criminals | vonuck, f " in gaol 1,800 being the present number out of a population of five millions. More than onethird are said to be old offenders. It has been suggested that over-light sentences, and over-easy labour, or rather idleness, in gaol are to be held accountable for this assuredly posatisfactory state of things. There can be no question that prison discipline in the Bongkoog. United States generally is exceedingly lax, socording to our notions, and renders the effect of light sentences lighter still. Nevertheless the comparison is not entirely in our favour. Though our number of gool birds decreases in proportion, our daily average of them during the past year was still one to about every 1,530 of our population, while the 1,800 of New York represent but one to every 2,777. It will probably, therefore, take some time before their increase and our decrease meet half way-especially if the state of New York ceases to be quite so much the collusies gentium that it has been hitherto, for it must be remembered that the emigrant to New York has not unfrequently been one who was at least a potential prisoner in Barometer his native land. However, apart from all such Temperature complex considerations. American testimony gods to the effect that the best practical prevention of crime is the most obvious one; and in crimes of violence, at any rate, the doctrine really formidable sentences may well be found

capable of considerably further extension among

IMPERIAL QUARTO. ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY.

WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION, An Anglo-Chinasa Diotion www. published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objosts in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relationship imposed nach them, are here given in extenso: Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Panti be inanciations are given the accents being carafully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of. space, achieving a clearness not previously Corea, France and Annam, 1884, France and attained, and dispensing with those vast margins | Cambodis, 1884, Great Britain and Siam, 1883, and vacant spaces which have heretofore charact together with many other items, have not terized Chinese publications. It seems that Hudson Bay a letter purporting to come from Sir George Meridian saving that the Royal College of Music had conferred upon him the degree of Mus. Bac. A notification was also sent: to be read in the were desputched. The notice was duly read in Queen Limma the parish church on Easter day, when the musl-Snow & Bress May 26 Brown cian appeared in church in all the glory of his new hood. The hour was complete. Its success seems to show much misapplied inventive genius a few moments. The intensity of the pain Swatow at the time, and the sudden relief, must have made the deepest impression on the suffering

That brief moment says M. Bouley,

"sufficed to fix in the brain of the dog-the impression of my personality, whether con-animal, and we know that the memory of such impressions is the most vivid.
